

Drop in, learn wine-making

IF YOU'VE ever dreamed of turning fruits, vegetables, herbs and flowers into wine, liqueurs and ports, then Frankston Amateur Winemakers' Guild has the course for you.

The guild will hold a course in Mornington next month to pass on its passion, expertise and recipes.

Included in the cost will be a wine-making kit and handbook, which provides participants with advice and recipes to make wine in their own kitchens.

Each participant will make and take home five litres of wine at the end of the course.

The classes will be held at the Mornington Information Centre on March 1, 8, 15 and 22 at 8pm. Cost $95. Details: Noel on 5996 6620 or Colin on 0413 433 836.

Chris Myers will teach people how to make wine.

Picture: IAN COOK. N34ML301

